

Description of Septic Tank Components that need to be Uncovered and Accessible for a For Sale of Property Evaluation

There are two openings on most septic tanks, an inlet and an outlet. One may have an extension called a riser that provided ground surface accessibility to the tank for cleaning and maintenance purposes. The other opening, more than likely, will not have a riser on it. However, please be aware that risers can be on either the inlet or the outlet side of the septic tank. The Health District will need both openings of the septic tank uncovered and accessible at the time of inspection.
